Welcome Back!

All of us at OGMS are thrilled to see the children's beautiful faces, and we are so excited for the year ahead. The teachers and staff have worked so hard to prepare for this school year. We have set very high expectations and goals to guide and support every student through a successful school year.

As a team, we have also made parent communication a priority. We have put in place additional systems that will help to keep the collaboration and the communication flowing between parents and the school. Communication is paramount. Because we are working as a community to create a secure, nurturing environment for your child’s development, we have so much to offer each other through frequent and honest communication. Through emails, phone calls, face to face conversations, parent/teacher conferences, and utilizing the communication corner, we can build relationships that foster an ongoing dialogue about your child. Your job as a parent is to be an advocate for your child. It is important to address any concerns you may have. Please be assured that your concerns will be heard and honored.

I hope that your children have eagerly begun the school year, and thank you for being part of this very special community. Here’s to a joyful, peaceful and wondrous school year!!!
